

2015 Internal Revenue Code Section 6056 Reporting—Employer-Provided Health Insurance

Purpose: Confirms to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) whether applicable large employers (ALEs) are complying with the Affordable Care Act’s (ACA’s) employer mandate to offer affordable health coverage (or pay a penalty). Section 6056 reporting also identifies individuals who are ineligible for premium tax credits (PTCs) for exchange coverage (i.e., coverage through the ACA’s Health Insurance Marketplace) because they have been offered minimum essential coverage (MEC) by their employer¹.

Key forms:

- IRS Form 1095-C Employer-Provided Health Insurance Offer and Coverage Insurance—A personalized IRS Form 1095-C must be sent to every full-time employee (i.e., 30 hours per week or 130 hours per month) in any month of the calendar year. [If the ALE has a self-insured health plan, it may also send 1095-C forms to any non-employees who were covered (e.g., non-employee director, retiree, etc.) to satisfy Section 6055 reporting requirements.]
- IRS Form 1094-C Transmittal of Employer-Provided Health Insurance Offer and Coverage Information Returns (“transmittal form”)—Transmittal form IRS Form 1094-C must be sent to the IRS. IRS Form 1094-C confirms the total number of Forms 1095-C sent. Additionally, the reporting entity must submit to the IRS copies of all IRS Forms 1095-C.

Who must comply: Section 6056 reporting requires applicable large employers to report to the IRS whether or not “minimum essential coverage” (MEC) was offered.

Reporting responsibility within the UMC:

Only applicable large employers [employers with 50 or more full-time or full-time equivalent employees (collectively FTEEs)] must complete Section 6056 reporting. Many employers within the UMC are not considered applicable large employers. (See Employer Shared Responsibility Toolkit—Part 3 to determine if a salary-paying unit is an applicable large employer.)

- For HealthFlex plan sponsors: Applicable large employers (50 or more FTEEs) who sponsor HealthFlex will need to complete Section 6056 reporting. Section 6056 requires the same information for covered individuals as Section 6055 reporting—plus additional information such as premium amounts. Section 6056 reporting must also be completed for full-time employees who are not covered. The General Board of Pension and Health Benefits (General Board) has made a good-faith interpretation of IRS guidance to determine that HealthFlex plan sponsors with salary-paying units that are also applicable large employers (50 or more FTEEs) would only need to report the additional information that is not already included in Section 6055 reporting. Therefore, these salary-paying units that are applicable large employers should complete Parts I and II of IRS Form 1095-C as described below. These applicable large employers also should complete IRS Form 1094-C (transmittal form). As described in 2015 Internal Revenue Code Section 6055 Reporting—Minimum Essential Coverage, HealthFlex will complete Section 6055 reporting, which includes coverage information on each individual covered under the HealthFlex group plan.
- For all other annual conferences with self-insured health plans: Conference offices and other salary-paying units that are applicable large employers (50 or more FTEEs) must complete Section 6056 reporting (IRS Forms 1095-C and 1094-C). Note that Section 6055 reporting requirements could also be satisfied by completing Section 6056 reporting.
- For annual conferences sponsoring fully-insured health plans: Conference offices and other salary-paying units that are applicable large employers (50 or more FTEEs) will have to complete Section 6056 reporting by completing Parts I and II of IRS Form 1095-C, as described below. These large employers also should complete IRS Form 1094-C (transmittal form). In addition, issuers of the health insurance policies should perform the Section 6055 reporting by completing IRS Form 1095-B and 1094-B (transmittal form).

¹ Note that MEC also includes Health Reimbursement Account (HRA) balances that are not integrated with medical coverage. For example, if a participant terminates coverage but still has an HRA balance available, the HRA balance is still reported as MEC until the balance is depleted.

Part I – Employee

- Line 1: Enter name of primary participant (e.g., employee)
- Line 2: Enter Social Security Number of person entered in Line 1
- Lines 3 – 6: Enter primary participant’s address

Part I – Applicable Large Employer Member (Employer)

- Line 7: Enter name of employer
- Line 8: Enter employer identification number (EIN)
- Lines 9 – 13: Enter employer’s address

Part II – Employer Offer and Coverage

- Note:
- Coverage under HealthFlex meets the requirements of MEC.
 - Plan Start Month: This field is optional for 2015 reporting. To complete it, enter the two-digit number (01-12) to indicate the calendar month in which the health plan year begins. If an employee is not offered coverage, enter “00.”

Line 14: Offer of Coverage: Enter the applicable code for the employee. (If the same code applies for all 12 months of the reporting year, enter the code in the first box. Otherwise enter the applicable code in the box for each corresponding month.)

Report an offer of continuation coverage made to a former employee upon termination of employment by entering Code 1H (No offer of coverage) for any month for which the offer of continuation coverage applies.

Continuation coverage for an active employee (i.e., change to part-time) is reported in the same manner as an offer of that type of coverage to any other active employee.

If an individual was not an employee for the entire year (e.g., was retired or terminated for all 12 months) but was covered, such coverage can be reported using either this Form 1095-C or IRS Form 1094-B and 1095-B (i.e., Section 6055 reporting).

(1A) Primary participant offered MEC with minimum value with an annual employee contribution for self-only coverage equal to or less than $1,108.65 for 2015. In addition, MEC offered to spouse and dependents.

Note: If this requirement is met, employee's share of premium amounts does not need to be entered on Line 15.

(1B) Primary participant offered MEC with minimum value, but this coverage is not offered to spouse or dependents.

(1C) Primary participant and dependents offered MEC with minimum value, but this coverage is not offered to spouse.

(1D) Primary participant and spouse offered MEC with minimum value, but this coverage is not offered to dependents.

(1E) Primary participant offered MEC with minimum value. MEC also offered to spouse and dependents. However, the annual employee contribution for self-only coverage was greater than $1,108.65 for 2015.

(1F) MEC is not offered to primary participant, spouse or dependents.

(1G) Primary participant is not a full-time employee (i.e., works less than 30 hours a week, on average) but is enrolled in the employer's self-insured coverage. If applicable for all 12 months of the reporting year, enter this code in the "All 12 months" box; otherwise, enter the applicable code in the box for each corresponding month. This code may also be used for employees (and covered dependents) who retired or terminated for the entire year.

(1H) Primary participant was not offered coverage, or was offered coverage that was not MEC.

(1I) This code is used by employers who certify that they are eligible for the simplified reporting transition relief for 2015 called "Qualifying Offer Method Transition Relief." (To be eligible for this simplified reporting, an employer must make a qualifying offer for one or more months in 2015 to at least 95% of its full-time employees.) In months when the employer made a qualifying offer to the employee in question, they put code 1A in that month's box in Line 14 of the 1095-C form, and put Code 1I in the box for months when: (1) the primary participant (and spouse and dependents) received no offer of coverage, (2) received an offer that is not a qualifying offer, or (3) received a qualifying offer for less than 12 months. (In other words, to use simplified reporting, normally an employer must certify that it made a qualifying offer for all months required for the employer to avoid a shared responsibility penalty with respect to the employee in question; but for 2015, an employer can use simplified reporting for each month in which it makes a qualifying offer to 95% of its employees.)

A "qualifying offer" is made in any month when minimum essential coverage providing minimum value is offered to a full-time employee with employee contribution for self-only coverage equal to or less than 9.5% of mainland U.S. federal poverty level (FPL), and at least minimum essential coverage is offered to spouse and dependents.

Line 15: Enter the employee's share of the lowest-cost monthly premium for self-only MEC providing minimum value that was offered by the employer. The amount reported is not necessarily the amount paid by the employee (i.e., if they chose a different benefit option or coverage tier). Premium information should only be entered if one of codes 1B, 1C, 1D or 1E was entered on Line 14. If the employer pays the entire premium, report "0.00" for the employee's share.

Line 16: The following codes indicate whether or not a participant was covered in a month (or if not covered, the reason why). If no codes apply, the employer will be subject to a penalty. Enter only one applicable code, if any, with regard to the primary participant for each month:

(2A) Enter code if employee was not employed any day of the month. Do not use this code for any month in which the employee was employed at least one day of the month.

- (2B) Enter this code if one of the following conditions apply:
- Part-time employee (i.e., works less than 30 hours per week) offered coverage, but did not enroll in the coverage.
 - Full-time employee whose offer of coverage or enrollment in coverage ended before the last day of the month solely because the employee terminated employment during the month.
 - If an employer is utilizing transition relief offered solely for January 2015: If the employer offers coverage to an employee by the first payroll period in January of 2015, the employer is treated as having offered coverage even though they report no coverage was offered (i.e., Code 1H on Line 14) for the month of January. Therefore the employer is not subject to a penalty for the month of January 2015.
- (2C) Enter this code for any month in which the employee was covered for each day of the month. Use this code even if another code for Line 16 might also apply.
- (2D) Enter this code for any month in which the employee is not enrolled because:
- The participant is subject to a waiting period as elected on the plan sponsor's adoption agreement.
 - The participant's date of hire is not the first day of the month, and he or she was only covered for a portion of the month.
- (2E) This code should not apply, as it relates to multi-employer plans.
Enter one of the following codes (2F, 2G or 2H), if applicable, for employees who were offered health coverage but did not enroll in the coverage:
- (2F) The employer relied on the employee's income reported on tax form W-2 to determine if coverage was "affordable." As long as the cost of coverage to an employee under an employer's plan does not exceed 9.5% of W-2 compensation (determined employee-by-employee at the end of the year), an applicable large employer will not be subject to a penalty even if the employee receives a premium tax credit.
- (2G) The employer based affordability on the federal poverty level (FPL). Under this method, coverage from an applicable large employer is deemed affordable if the cost of coverage for an employee does not exceed 9.5% of FPL for a single person.
- (2H) The employer relied on an employee's "rate of pay" to determine if coverage was affordable. As long as the hourly rate of pay for an employee (at the beginning of the plan year) multiplied by 130 hours per month does not exceed 9.5% of this amount, the applicable large employer will not be subject to a penalty even if the employee receives a premium tax credit.
- (2I) This code would only apply if the plan operates under a non-calendar plan year and the plan qualified for transitional relief. (HealthFlex operates under a calendar plan year.)

Part III – Covered Individuals

If self-insured coverage is provided, check the box indicating self-insured coverage is provided.

Line 17: Enter the following information for the primary participant

- (A) Name
- (B) Social Security Number
- (C) Date of birth (if SSN not reported)
- (D) Check box if primary participant was covered for at least one day in each month of the entire year. Proceed to 17E if primary participant was not covered in all 12 months.
- (E) If 17D was not completed, check the box(s) corresponding to each month in which the primary participant was covered for at least one day.

Lines 18 – 34: Enter the following information for each covered dependent of the primary participant

- (A) Name of dependent
- (B) Social Security Number of dependent
- (C) Date of birth (if SSN not reported)
- (D) Check box if dependent was covered for at least one day in each month of the entire year. Proceed to 17E if dependent was not covered in all 12 months.
- (E) If 17D was not completed, check the box(es) corresponding to each month in which the dependent was covered for at least one day.

- Line 21:
 - If the plan sponsor was not part of a controlled group for all 12 months of the calendar year, check “No.”
 - If the plan sponsor is part of a controlled group any month of the year, check “Yes.”

Line 22: Check the applicable box(es) for each of the offer methods and/or one of the forms of transition relief the plan sponsor is using. The offer methods provide a way to simplify reporting. The transition relief may alleviate penalties from the employer mandate or provide transitional methods of reporting.

- Qualifying Offer Method: The plan sponsor made a “Qualifying Offer,” which is an offer of minimum essential coverage providing minimum value for all months during the year in which an employee was a full-time employee (unless a waiting period or other exemption from the penalty applies). The cost of a Qualifying Offer to the employee for self-only coverage can be no more than 9.5% of federal poverty level for a single person ($1,108.65 for 2015), and the plan sponsor must also offer minimum essential coverage to the employee’s spouse and dependents, if any.
- Qualifying Offer Method Transition Relief: For 2015 only, the plan sponsor made a Qualifying Offer for one or more months of calendar year 2015 to at least 95% of its full-time employees. This method is intended to be used by a plan sponsor that makes a Qualifying Offer for some but not all 12 months of the year.
- Section 4980H Transition Relief: (The plan sponsor is still required to file Forms 1094-C and 1095-C.) Check this box if one of the following applies:
 - 50-99 Transition Relief (for plan sponsors or controlled groups with fewer than 100 full-time equivalent employees in 2014). Under this relief, no employer mandate penalty applies for 2015 (and, if the plan sponsor has a non-calendar year plan, for the portion of the 2015 plan year that falls in 2016) if the following rules are met:
 - ♦ During the period February 9, 2014 – December 31, 2014, the plan sponsor did not reduce the size of its workforce or its employees’ overall hours of service in order to qualify for the transition relief. (However, a plan sponsor that reduces workforce size or overall hours of service for bona fide business reasons is still eligible for the relief.)
 - ♦ During the period February 10, 2014 – December 31, 2015, the plan sponsor does not eliminate or materially reduce the health coverage, if any, it offered as of February 9, 2014.
 - 100 or More Transition Relief (for plan sponsors or controlled groups with more than 100 full-time equivalent employees in 2014): Under this relief, the employer mandate penalty is calculated for the number of full-time employees that exceed 80 (rather than 30).

98% Offer Method: The plan sponsor offered, for all months of the calendar year, affordable health coverage providing minimum value to at least 98% of its employees for whom it is filing a Form 1095-C and minimum essential coverage to their dependents. Coverage is considered affordable if:

- The employer relied on the employee’s income reported on tax form W-2 to determine if coverage was “affordable.” As long as the cost of coverage to an employee under an employer’s plan does not exceed 9.5% of W-2 compensation (determined employee-by-employee at the end of the year), an applicable large employer will not be subject to a penalty even if the employee receives a premium tax credit; or
- The employer based affordability on the federal poverty level (FPL). Under this method, coverage from an applicable large employer is deemed affordable if the cost of coverage for an employee does not exceed 9.5% of FPL for a single person; or
- The employer relied on an employee’s “rate of pay” to determine if coverage was affordable. As long as the hourly rate of pay for an employee (at the beginning of the plan year) multiplied by 130 hours per month does not exceed 9.5% of this amount, the applicable large employer will not be subject to a penalty even if the employee receives a premium tax credit.

Form 1094-C (2015)

Lines 23 – 35:

Column (a): Check the “Yes” box for each month (or “All 12 Months”) in which the plan sponsor offered minimum essential coverage to full-time employees and dependents, or qualified for certain types of transition relief:

- If the plan sponsor offered minimum essential coverage to at least 70% (95% in 2016 and after) of its full-time employees and their dependents for the entire calendar year, check the “Yes” checkbox on Line 23.
- If the plan sponsor offered minimum essential coverage to at least 70% (95% in 2016 and after) of its full-time employees and their dependents only for certain calendar months, check the “Yes” checkbox for each applicable month.
- For the months, if any, for which the plan sponsor did not offer minimum essential coverage to at least 70% (95% in 2016 and after) of its full-time employees and their dependents, check the “No” checkbox for each applicable month—unless the plan sponsor is eligible for the transition relief described below.
- If the plan sponsor did not offer minimum essential coverage to at least 70% (95% in 2016 and after) of its full-time employees and their dependents for any of the 12 months, check the “No” checkbox for “All 12 Months”—unless the plan sponsor is eligible for the transition relief below.

Note: For purposes of column (a), an employee in a waiting period is not counted in determining whether minimum essential coverage was offered to at least 70% (95% in 2016 and after) of a plan sponsor’s full-time employees and their dependents.

Transition Relief if Plan Sponsor Does Not Offer Health Coverage for Dependents: For the 2015 plan year, a plan sponsor may treat an offer of health coverage to a full-time employee but not his or her dependents, as an offer of health coverage to the full-time employee and his or her dependents, if the plan sponsor takes steps during the 2015 plan year to extend coverage under the plan to dependents not offered coverage during prior plan years. If a plan sponsor uses this transition relief for a calendar year, it is not eligible to use the Qualifying Offer Method (or the Qualifying Offer Transition Relief Method) for that calendar year. If a plan sponsor is eligible for this relief, it can still indicate it offered minimum essential coverage by checking the “Yes” boxes, as applicable, on Lines 23-35.

Transition Relief for Plan Sponsors with Non-Calendar Year Plans: A plan sponsor that sponsored a non-calendar year health plan as of December 27, 2012 may be eligible for transition relief for the months in 2015 prior to the start of the 2015 plan year. See Instructions for Forms 1094-C and 1095-C for more information.

Transition Relief for Health Coverage for January 2015: Solely for January 2015, if a plan sponsor offers health coverage to an employee no later than the first day of the first payroll period that begins in January 2015, the employer is <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/i109495c.pdf> treated as having offered health coverage for January 2015. An employer that is eligible for this transition relief for an employee for January 2015 should treat that employee as having been offered minimum essential coverage for January 2015.

- Column (b): Enter the number of full-time employees for each month, but do not count any employee in a waiting period. If the plan sponsor selected the 98% Offer Method on Line 22, it is not required to complete column (b).
- Column (c): Enter the total number of employees, including full-time employees and non-full-time employees and employees in a waiting period, for each calendar month. A plan sponsor must choose to use one of the following days to determine the number of employees per month and must use the same day for all months of the year: 1) the first day of each month; 2) the last day of each month; 3) the first day of the first payroll period that starts during each month; or (4) the last day of the first payroll period that starts during each month (provided that for each month that last day falls within the calendar month in which the payroll period starts). If the total number of employees was the same for every month of the entire calendar year, enter that number in Line 23, column (c) "All 12 Months."
- Column (d): If a plan sponsor indicated that, during any month of the calendar year, it was a member of an Aggregated ALE Group on Line 21, it must complete this column. If the plan sponsor was a member of a controlled group during each month of the calendar year, check the box for "All 12 Months." If the employer was not a member of a controlled group for all 12 months but was a member of a controlled group for one or more months, check the box for each applicable month.
