Findley Camp & Retreat Center

In addition to deliberation over the budget, there was a lot of discussion about the resolution to close and sell Findley Camp & Retreat Center. In the end a motion was supported that the Board of Trustees be given the authorization, by the Upper New York Annual Conference, to determine the future use of Findley Camp & Retreat Center, based on the conversations with CRM, other interested UMC Cornerstone District congregations, and other interested Cornerstone District parties.

Because of the passion around Camp Findley, Adirondack District Superintendent, the Rev. Bill Mudge brought forth a motion to require every UNY congregation to appoint a Camp and Retreat agent with their leadership selection in 2016 to begin serving in 2017. This motion was also supported.

2016 Annual Conference session wrap-up

The Table is set

In the Opening Worship Service at the 2016 Annual Conference of the Upper New York Conference of the United Methodist Church (AC16), the theme was “The Table is Set.” Upper New York Area Resident Bishop Mark J. Webb explained what that means in the closing of his Opening Worship sermon; he said, “The United Methodist Church will be in great shape when everyone, including me, goes to the table and trusts the grace of God and sufficiency of God.” Visit <http://tinyurl.com/AC16-OpeningWorship> for the full article about Opening Worship.

Study Session Leader: The Rev. Adam Hamilton

The featured Study Session leader of the Conference was the Rev. Adam Hamilton, founding pastor of the United Methodist Church of the Resurrection in Leawood, Kan. He led the Conference in three 90-minute training sessions throughout the day on June 3.

In his first lesson, Rev. Hamilton described the role of leaders, outlining five key leadership principles.

1. It's all about the people.
2. Healthy organizations have a clear MVP (mission, vision, and plan).
3. Change, innovate, improve, or die
4. Intentional discipleship
5. Discernment by nausea – being willing to do what unsuccessful churches are unwilling to do.

Visit <http://tinyurl.com/AC16-hamilton-session1> for more details about the first Study Session.

In his second session, Rev. Hamilton focused on effective worship and preaching. He discussed five components that are essential for a preacher to use in order to connect with the congregation.

1. Teach people something they didn't know before.
2. Inspire people.
3. Call people to action.
4. Relate to daily life.
5. Be biblical.

Rev. Hamilton's final Study Session included tips for churches on how to prepare for visitors, an emphasis on connecting evangelism and social justice, and advice on how to transition someone from a visitor to a member.

Memorial Service

On June 2, Rev. Nola Anderson led a moving Memorial Service. Her sermon, entitled “A Reason to Hope,” offered inspiration drawn from Lamentations 3:18-24:

“There is a very honest grief in ‘Lamentations,’” she said. “The author does not propose any easy answers. No ‘things will be okay.’ No ‘this too shall pass.’ Just raw grief and lament. The first 16 verses of Chapter Three get pretty intense. The image of God is not pretty, and the believer is not afraid to utter it. Fortunately, by verse 17, the mood turns, and one last summary leads into verse 21, in which God's lasting and eternal quality of heshed (loving kindness) is recalled.”

Also, the concept of leadership as it relates to revitalizing and planting new churches was presented. Visit <http://tinyurl.com/AC16-leadership> for full coverage of the Leadership Report.
