Dr. Rev. Gregory Jones, Annual Conference 2018 Study Leader

The Dr. Rev. Gregory Jones of Duke Divinity School will be the guest study leader and this year's Annual Conference (AC2018).

Rev. Jones said, "There is a distinctive Wesleyan Way to living and thinking and feeling as Christians, and we can chart significant paths forward into the future by mining our own best insights. This Wesleyan Way involves holding things together that others put into opposition and involves us embodying a powerful vision of social innovation." Rev. Jones will be drawing insights from the Wesleyan movement in England and will also provide modern-day examples of the Wesleyan Way in the United States and around the world.

Rev. Jones will be leading two study sessions. The title of his first presentation is "The End is our Beginning." Rev. Jones said, "This presentation focuses on the importance of us being guided by a robust vision of the Reign of God, and the power of the Holy Spirit in conforming us to Christ while making all things new."

The title of Rev. Jones' second presentation is "Forming Christians for Social Innovation." Rev. Jones said, "The second presentation will focus on friendships and practices that shape and form us to be people who bear witness to the Holy Spirit's work."

Rev. Jones' presentations will certainly fit nicely into the AC2018

theme: "Together in Prayer: Boldly living our Call." When asked about the theme, Rev. Jones said, "Prayer is at the heart of keeping us focused on the End (bearing witness to the Reign of God and testifying to the power of the Holy Spirit). We are to be discerning our calling in all we are and do, laity and clergy alike. And we need to do so boldly by imagining and embodying extraordinary social innovation in the world."

You will leave AC2018 inspired with some imaginative examples and empowered with specific calls-to-action you can do in your home contexts after hearing Rev. Jones' presentations.

Bishop Proctor serving as Annual Conference 2018 ordination

Bishop Dennis Proctor of the North Eastern Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal (AME) Zion Church will serve as the ordination speaker for the AC2018

"I am honored and humbled to have the opportunity to speak to young ordinands," Bishop Proctor said. "As a Methodist Bishop, I feel that the setting aside of young women and men in ministry is indeed a sacred privilege. As such, the charge delivered at the ordination service is weighty!"

Bishop Proctor has a clinical pastoral experience diploma from Western Reserve Psychiatric Habilitation Center, a Juris Doctor from The Ohio State University College of Law, and a Doctor of Ministry from United Theological Seminary.

In addition to his education, he is the founding president of the Congress of National Black Churches, Baltimore Affiliate, co-authored Christians Under Construction, and served on his denomination's Connectional Budget Board and Overseas Missions Board.

As ordination speaker, Bishop

Proctor said he will attempt to place a counter-culture argument to these preachers in the Wesleyan tradition, "one intent on being a credible Christian example to the flock of God."

Bishop Proctor said through the invitation to serve as ordination speaker at this year's UNYAC session, Upper New York Area Resident Bishop Mark J. Webb is demonstrating the full scope of itinerant collaboration.

"We are shepherds of the Lord's sheepfold. Different sheep, same
